Senate Confirms John S. Mahan As New Postmaster

Successor To Press J.
Blackburn Not Yet Advised When He Will Assume His Duties

The Senate confirmed Tuesday the appointment of John S. Mahan to be postmaster at Princeton. Mr. Mahan's nomination was not to the Senate some weeks ago but pressure of important legislation delayed final action.

Mr. Mahan said Wednesday morning he had received no official information concerning confirmation of his appointment and had no idea as to when he would assume his duties at the postoffice here, but it is expected the change will be effected within the present month.

The Senate's action ends a long delay in naming a new postmaster for the local office, since J. Blackburn having tendered his resignation several months ago.

Two examinations were held, with no applicant being given passing grade in the first test and only three attaining necessary grades in the second, of whom Mr. Mahan ranked first.

Others on the list sent Congressmen Noble J. Gregory were Charles Hubbard, Fredonia school teacher, and Kelsey R. Cummins, local businessman.

Mr. Mahan is a popular young farmer, residing on the famous Satterfield place, off the Satterfield road. He is a past president of the Farm Bureau and has been active in civic affairs.

500,000 More For School Lunches

Kentucky Gets Federal Funds Under Bill
Signed Tuesday

Frankfort, June 5.—(P)—Signatures of the National School Lunch Act by President Truman will bring Kentucky at least $500,000 more of federal funds during the next four years.

"For the last two years," Watson Armstrong, education department official in charge of administering the lunch program in Kentucky, said, "the federal government has allocated $50,000 annually for school lunches. During 1944-45, Kentucky received $52,554 of federal funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis. In the current 1945-46 fiscal year, we have matched $1,421 of federal funds."

On the basis of current allocations, Armstrong said the federal increase will mean an additional $500,000 will be available to Kentucky for the next four years. About 800 Kentucky schools now participate in the school lunch program and Armstrong said the extra funds will enable more schools to take part.

Sturgis Minister Abducted After Wet-Dry Election

(By Associated Press)
Sturgis — Authorities sought the man after the Rev. C. L. Sturgis, pastor of the First Baptist church here, reported that he had been abducted from his study Sunday night.

He was taken to the countryside and threatened him. Sheriff Steve Peak said the Rev. Mr. Sturgis told officers that men invaded his church at about 9:30 p.m. Sunday, took him to accompany them to the country in an automobile, driven by a fifth man, and threatened him.

The pastor declared the men blackened their faces, ap-

Peach Ceiling To Be $3.76 Bushel

Prospects Reported
Bright For Crop Of Good Quality

The bulk of the 1946 peach crop in this area will be marketed under a ceiling price of $3.76 a bushel, 12 cents a bushel higher than the top rate last year.

The $3.76 ceiling becomes effective June 25, several days before the peach harvest is expected to be under way fully in this vicinity.

The ceiling price in all states east of Colorado prior to June 25 will be $4.65 a bushel. Few west Kentucky peaches will ripen during the high-ceiling period.

The peach yield here this year is expected to be slightly under what it was in 1945 but prospects are bright for good quality fruit.

The entire Kentucky crop probably will be 80 percent of the bumper 1945 yield, according to W. W. Magill, treasurer of the Kentucky State Horticultural Society.

The crop in the nation will be about 5 percent less than the 1945 crop and 3 percent more than the crop in 1944. The yield in the nation this year is expected to be approximately 75 million bushels.

The bulk of the west Kentucky crop will be marketed in July and August.

Helm Considered Best Chance For Anti-Brown Wing

Louisville Democrat,
Logan County Native,
May Win Strong Support
From Conservatives

"The Senate race is getting to be quite a comic opera affair as far as the Democrats are concerned," a Louisville Democrat said this week, as a minister, the Rev. James L. Delk, 59, Hopkinsville evangelist, filed his declaration of candidacy at Frankfort.

"There isn't an entry thus far that has the qualifications of a first rate State senator and it looks as though some persons are anxious to make a gift of the Senate seat to John Cooper," continued this life-long and ardent Democrat, whose knowledge of party affairs is broad.

From Louisville also came the rumor this week that Blakey Helm, veteran of two world wars, native of Logan county, leading attorney and former chairman of the Democratic City-County organization in the State's metropolis, would have the backing of the Louisville and Jefferson county Democratic organization for the Senate nomination.

Mr. Helm was perfecting his organization by long distance telephone and planned a trip into western Kentucky this week, a backer advised The Leader Sunday night by telephone.

The Helm candidacy seems to have side-tracked possible entry of H. Clyde Reeves, State revenue commissioner in parts of two administrations, from whom nothing has been heard in two weeks, and the anybody-to-beat-Brown-with-Democrats, of whom it appears there are many, were showing evidence of leaving young Philip Ardrey and going to the more experienced Louisville lawyer, according to information from several sources.

Leaders of the Democratic party in Kentucky still were hoping some of the candidacies and potential candidacies would evaporate before the deadline for filing, June 8, leaving the field to John Y. Brown, former CIO attorney and stormy petrel of the party's politics the last 10 years, and no more than two others, on one of whom the anti-

Prices Raised On Low Cost Shoes

Cheaper Footwear Up
10 To 15 Percent To Boost Production

(By Associated Press)
Washington.—O.P.A. has boosted prices 10 to 15 percent on shoes selling generally at $5.50 or less.

The increase, effective immediately on new shipments by manufacturers, applies to standard types of men's, women's and children's shoes which were being made during 1942.

The price hike is to encourage production of low and moderately priced footwear. Such shoes, especially women's, practically have disappeared from the market, O.P.A. said, because manufacturers found it more profitable to turn out higher priced merchandise.

The price boost comes only a month after suspension by the Civilian Production Administration of a wartime control which directed manufacturers to continue to produce 1942 price lines of shoes. O.P.A. agreed to removal of this control on the ground that shoe production had increased so much it is no longer needed.

The agency estimated the new order will raise prices for about a fourth of shoes produced. Monthly production at present is about 45 million pairs.

Under the new price schedule, men's and women's shoes which sold at retail in 1942 for about $4.30 will go up 45 to 65 cents. Children's shoes which were $2.50 will cost 25 to 35 cents more.

No-Hit Game Is Opening Night's Softball Feature

Cumberland Pitcher Star
Of Victory Over Hosier
Mill; Rotary Tops
Cherry Nine

About 200 shivering fans saw the Kiwanis-sponsored league at one of the best softball performances in the opening game of the Butler High stadium Tuesday night played on a local field in years when the Cumberland Manufacturing Company's team defeated the Princeton Hosier Mill nine, 8 to 4. The pitching of Sam Chambers was the feature of the official scorer, Harold Price, crediting him with a no-hit performance. R. C. Chambers, his brother, was his catcher.

Akers pitched and Gresham caught for the losers and a sparkling fielding play by Hosier Mill Third Baseman Cunningham was a first inning highlight. The game was delayed because lights on the west side of the field failed to function until electricians could be called to the scene.

The fast-ball delivery of Chambers, former Army softball star, had the Hosier Mill batsmen baffled, eight going down by the strike-out route. Wild throws on infield taps accounted for the scoring of the losers.

In the second game, a closer contest all the way, the Rotarians jumped off to a one run lead in the first inning, scored two in the third, six in the fourth and five in the fifth to garner a 14 to 11 margin. Meanwhile, the Cherry's Restaurant boys, shut out the first two innings, scored three times in the third, five in the fourth, three in the fifth and one in the sixth, when the game was called because of cold and the lateness of the hour. The Rotary pitcher was Nichols; catcher, Shees. Cherry pitched and Morgan caught for the losers.

Insufficient lighting was the only factor to mar the opening of the league's schedule, which is due to run 14 weeks, with a double-header each Tuesday and Friday night. Friday night will see the Kiwanis team and the Elks, and the Whip & Collar Co. vs the Masons in action.

Marion's $90,000 Hospital

Above is pictured Marion's new hospital, built and equipped through the efforts of many citizens of the neighboring town and county.

By donations, benefits in wide variety, and a community-wide civic effort which prevailed over nearly a year of hard work, a modern health plant was established which is the pride of all Crittenden county people.

In the campaign, approximately $69,000 was obtained. Since the hospital has been in operation, other donations and gifts have boosted this total to $90,000, now invested in the plant and equipment.

Within the last month, $1500 was given to equip a new laboratory for the hospital. Marion's example means much to Princeton in the present effort here to build a modern hospital, for Princeton and Caldwell folk have as much pride in their home community and desire equally good health facilities for themselves and their children, leaders of the local campaign believe.

Public Asked To Buy Tickets For Hospital Benefit

"Princeton Night" Game
At Hopkinsville Kitty
League Park Scheduled
Thursday, June 13

Princeton sports lovers are looking forward to Thursday night, June 12, which will be "Princeton Night" on the Kitty League baseball calendar at Hopkinsville. Madisonville will face the Hoppers' on the diamond.

About 600 Princeton fans are expected to leave the courthouse at 6:15 o'clock in an escorted motorcade, Jayees sponsoring the project said this week. Seats at the park will be reserved for the group.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the ticket sale for benefit of the Princeton hospital fund, and is being aided by the Girl Scouts.

"We earnestly hope a large number of baseball fans of Princeton, Caldwell county and neighboring communities will purchase tickets for this game," Howard York, Jayees president, said this week. "If we can sell 800 tickets, that means a net of $400 for the Caldwell County Memorial Hospital Fund," Mr. York stated. Bill Stout said the Girl Scouts would help sell tickets here from now until next Thursday evening.

Tickets may be used at any later date, should circumstances prevent buyers being on hand for Princeton night. Tickets must be purchased in Princeton in order to benefit the hospital fund.

Free transportation to Hopkinsville can be arranged by request to a Jayees member. Tickets may be purchased from any Jayee or at any of the following locations: Hollowell Drug Store, Wood Drug Store, Western Auto Store, Stevens Chevrolet Garage, Henrietta Hotel, People's Service Store, Cherry's Restaurant, Whip and Collar Factory, Hosier Mill, and Cumberland Manufacturing Co.

Howard York and Fred Jake, of the Jayees, went to Hopkinsville last weekend and sold page advertisements to be published in both the Princeton newspapers this week, seeking to build interest in the "Princeton Night" benefit game. Mr. York said the Hopkinsville merchants gave immediate and generous cooperation in this project. The Hopkinsville advertisement appears on the back page of this issue of The Leader.

The special tickets for the benefit game were furnished gratis by a Hopkinsville print shop, as were 1,000 handbills boosting the event.

Since he is the recognized leader of the Republican party in matters of foreign policy, his action may presage a wholesale return of Republicans to the isolationist policy.

The problem of the control of atomic energy is a complex one. But until it is solved the threat of sudden extinction hangs over every citizen. The American people will do well to heed the words of a great and wise Republican, Henry M. Stimson, who said, "By its sole possession of the bomb, at least for the present, the United States finds itself in a position of leadership. But this solitary position is most certainly very transient. It must recognize this and act swiftly. It must take the lead by holding out an open hand to other nations in a spirit of genuine trust and with a real desire for a thorough-going cooperative effort. . . ."

Statement of Feed Situation
Dr. H. B. Price, Head Department of Market and Rural Extension, College of Agriculture (Home Economics),

Feed Situation
The outstanding development in the feed situation is the recent announcement of a 30-cent increase on corn and wheat paid on corn and wheat delivery to the government. The increase in price ceiling of feed grains. The new ceiling grants increases of 25 cents per bushel on corn, 15 cents on wheat, 5 cents on oats, 10 cents on barley and 10 cents on rye became effective May 13. This change in government policy will have far-reaching effects on the cost and supply of feed and its relation to stock numbers. Stockmen are re-appraising their operations in the light of these changes. The present seriousness of the feed situation as it affects Kentucky farmers differs somewhat from the feed shortages that occurred in 1943 and the first half of 1944. One primary difference is that there was about 12 percent less grain-consuming livestock on Kentucky farms on January 1, 1946 than on either January 1, 1943 or January 1, 1944. A breakdown of the livestock on farms January 1, 1946 compared with those on farms January 1, 1943 shows the following:

Milk cows	1 percent less
Other cattle and calves	3 percent less
Hogs	21 percent less
Horses	6 percent less
Mules	14 percent less
Chickens	7 percent less
Sheep and lambs	28 percent less

Numbers of all kinds of livestock are thus lower than three years ago. Particularly important in analyzing Kentucky's current feed situation is the fact that there are now 12 percent less hogs on farms, it was the sharp increase in hog numbers in 1943 and 1944 that was an important factor in making for a serious feed problem in Kentucky.

The current and until-harvest feed problem that is facing many Kentucky farmers is the inadequate supplies of commercial feed and particularly certain of those feeds. The poultryman and dairyman who are dependent upon purchased commercial feeds will encounter increasing difficulties in obtaining sufficient supplies. Neither sizeable imports of wheat and barley from Canada or the availability of U. S. wheat for feed seems likely in face of the present world's food problem and the need for use of wheat as a direct food. The value of corn, up until the recent announcement of a 30 cents per bushel bonus and the upward revision of price ceilings, has been greater when sold through livestock than when sold as grain and the commercial channels has been comparatively small as compared to prewar years.

Nationally, total stocks of feed grains in relation to livestock numbers, while somewhat lower than for recent years, are still at reasonable levels. However, farm stocks of the feed grains are not well distributed geographically in relation to the distribution of livestock numbers on farms. Areas that are dependent upon shipments of feed grains and commercial feeds probably will encounter difficulty in obtaining needed supplies. The likely carry-over of feed grains, other than oats, into the next crop year will be small and not of sufficient size to cushion a short crop of this year, should one occur. Prospective plantings of the feed grains in the United States in 1946 are slightly larger than the total acreage in these crops last year. In Kentucky indications are that the acreage planted to corn this year will be about 3 percent larger than last year.

In view of the national feed situation it appears that Kentucky stockmen will find it to their advantage to produce a maximum of feed during the current season.

THE GARDEN

By John S. Gardner, College of Agriculture and Home Economics

Second Gardens I.
June is the month in which is made the transition from the early garden to the second garden. This year, second gardens may become extremely important. Shortages are developing in the stores, not only of luxuries but of staples, the vegetables necessary to sustain life. This situation can change after this summer's harvest, but nobody knows that it will. Therefore, it is common sense to fill every jar, and store potatoes, carrots, beets and cabbage.

At the outset it should be said that the second garden requires as much plant food as the first, and remanuring and refertilizing should be done as when the garden was first started.

The crop that needs first attention is tomatoes, and fortunate indeed is the gardener who has 6-week-old plants to set, for he will have tomatoes for canning by late August, through September, and if he will save them from frost, fruits to ripen indoors to use until Thanksgiving or after. Plant growers who cater to the canning trade can still furnish plants, possibly a trifle overgrown, but quite usable if laid in shallow trenches, with only the tips protruding. Seed started now, but of short-season sorts (Break O' Day, Prichard, Bonny Best and ever Earliana) could begin yielding fruit in September. Half the canning budget should be tomatoes.

Beans come next. Dry beans have been off the market. But any gardener can assure himself of his next winter supply if he will do his planting now. There is, of course, the Mexican bean beetle to stop, but both rotenone and cryolite do that, applied on the undersides of the bean leaves, and at the first sign of the beetles' coming.

White Navy and Pinto are the usual varieties, but any other will do. A 200-foot row in a garden should produce easily 15 pounds of dry beans. Spaced at 4 inches, a pound of seed plants 200 feet.

Twenty-two farmers and 4-H club members in Wolfe county have entered the corn derby. Homemakers in Campbell county have refinished 131 pieces of furniture.

State Income Tax Payments Increase

Frankfort —(AP)— Personal income tax payments during May brought total collections on 1945 income to $5,423,009.98. Revenue Commissioner O. M. Howard reported this week. There is a possibility June's collections will drive the total to $5,500,000, he said.

Payments to date are well in advance of department estimates. Late in 1943, when the nation was in the grip of war, the department estimated for the 1944 Legislature that income tax collections for the 1945-46 fiscal year would approximate $3,800,000.

July 1 last year that estimate was revised upward for the 1945-46 year to $4,250,000. For the 1946 joint appropriations committee of the general assembly the department raised it again for budget bill purposes, to $4,750,000.

Howard attributed heavy collections this year partly to returning veterans who are paying income taxes and to the department's drive on delinquent taxpayers who have yielded so far $250,000.

Howard said 105,000 persons filed income tax returns this year. Of that number, about 80,000 were liable for taxes and 25,000 were "no-pays." About 79,000 persons filed returns last year, 70,000 being liable for taxes.

Meanwhile, corporation income payments for 1945 are about the same as those for 1944, Howard said.

The Management and Employees of

Gentlemen:
During the critical days of the war, many new Naval installations were established in the Area. Plants and factories which supplied the major portion of Army and Navy requirements were converted to war use overnight. Electrical energy was vital to the operation of all activities, and speed was essential. There was never a shortage of energy, nor interruptions of sufficient magnitude or duration to hamper supply or operations in the area served by your Company.

Through the Utilities Wartime Aid Program your Company rendered invaluable services to Naval Shore Establishments. This service was given promptly, wholeheartedly, and efficiently and made possible the delivery of power continuously, economically and dependably, resulting in the conservation of critical materials and manpower all during the war. This service was a real and effective contribution to victory.

Your Company demonstrated most effectively its foresight, ingenuity, and soundness. I am, therefore, pleased to affix my signature to the attached statement of appreciation and extend my congratulations to all hands in your organization.

State Asks Bids On Rural Roads

First Projects Under New $5 Million Appropriation To Be Let

Frankfort—First of the series of rural road building projects under the new appropriation of $5,000,000 for state aid to Kentucky counties will be let to contract June 14, J. S. Watkins, commissioner of highways, announced this week.

The request for bids includes a total of 118.7 miles of surfacing and resurfacing roads. Projects include 13 miles in Bracken, 22 miles in Campbell, 45 miles in Harrison and 36 miles in Kenton counties. State projects to be considered on the same date include nearly 5 miles of Louisville streets and 9 miles in Hardin and Letcher counties. Henry county bids for 7 miles will be opened on May 31.

"It is our hope that we can spend from a million to one and a quarter million dollars on new construction and new surfaces," Commissioner Watkins said. "Of course, we must spend a considerable amount for maintenance since we must preserve the investment we have already made."

Navy Photograph)

We have with us today Barry Bingham, president of the Courier-Journal, and the Louisville Times, who has important things to say. Read him.

I have a hard time restraining myself from indiscriminate boasting about Kentucky. Like most Kentuckians, I am filled with sentiment for the beauty of the State and its celebrated charm. When I was away from home in the service, I was worse than any Californian in my description of natural grandeur and unparalleled assets. One Christmas Eve, in the deep country in England, I heard the soldiers in an American camp join in singing "My Old Kentucky Home," and in that far-away frosty night I could tell that every man was seeing a vision of a sunny paradise full of bluegrass and bird-song, called Kentucky.

When somebody away from home says, "Oh, you're from Kentucky. That must be a beautiful State." I can only answer with an ecstatic "You bet it is." I could hardly bring myself to reply, "Yes, it has some fine farming sections, but did you know that 97 percent of our farm homes have no indoor toilets?" When an outlander mentions our reputation for beautiful women, I hate the thought of countering with a reminder that we also have needy blind for whom we do less than any other State, dependent children who fare worse only in South Carolina, victims of tuberculosis who face lack of care and the third highest tubercular death rate in the Union.

It goes against the grain for us Kentuckians to mention ugly facts about our state, but when I try to be honest with myself, I have to admit that it is the facts that cause the trouble, not the discussion. If the facts were untrue, we could refute them and turn the criticism to a glorious vindication of Kentucky. The trouble is that impartial gatherers of statistics do not rate Kentucky almost at the bottom of the heap in health, welfare and education just to deflate proud Kentuckians. The facts are facts.

We can just deny they exist, of course, and go on singing how the sun shines bright. But if we refuse to admit the unpleasant truths about our State, the world may begin to doubt the validity of the pleasant facts we have every right to boast about. I like to think that many strangers who heard me sing Kentucky's praises during the war, one day visit the State, and that I can show some of them the glories of the Bluegrass, of Natural Bridge, of Harrodsburg and Shakerstown and all that sweep of matchless country the pioneers saw stretched before them and called "the Great Meadow."

Would it make any sense, on the other hand, for me to blindfold those visitors and hustle them past the things I did not want them to see, the rundown farms, the forlorn little one-room schools, the rural and urban slums? Isn't it the same sort of nonsense for us Kentuckians to deny the existence of these blights on our State? Wouldn't it be the better course to acknowledge these handicaps and put all our Kentucky zeal to work to root them out?

That is the plan of the Committee for Kentucky. Their program contains two basic steps: 1. Diagnose the trouble. 2. Move to eradicate it. They believe Kentucky pride is not false pride, but good, working, battle-winning, trouble-overriding pride.

One word more. Lots of good Kentuckians get hot under the collar when the State's seamy side is turned out to view. They ask angrily, "Hasn't every other State got its dark spots too?" Of course it has, but the great difference is this: Kentucky is the State that is going to do something about it.

Troubles Off Her Mind

Omaha — (AP) — "We've been married 34 years," the wife explained in police court, "and he's all right until he drinks and then he comes home and gets into the bath tub with his clothes and shoes on and does the same thing with my bed and clean sheets."

Municipal Judge Frank Nimitz levied a $1 fine. The man turned to his wife: "Pay my fine, honey."

She did.

How To Increase Profits From Eggs

By keeping eggs fresh and clean, Kentucky farmers and dealers would gain at least a million dollars a year. That is the amount lost from spoiled eggs and price deductions for inferior quality, said poultry specialists at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Their recommendations are:

1. Keep the house and nests clean, with plenty of hay or straw in the nests and a deep litter on the floor.
2. Sell broody hens and roosters.
3. Gather eggs at least twice a day.
4. Keep eggs in the coolest place on the farm, such as a cellar or cave.
5. Pack eggs with small end down.
6. Keep eggs away from onions, cabbage, potatoes and kerosene.

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smearing and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

Helm Considered

Brown sentiment could center. As time passed however and the deadline for filing neared, the field seemed certain to be cluttered with little known candidates, each of whom could be expected to carry along some reluctant supporters, thus splitting the anti-Brown vote and making it appear likely the Lexington man, twice defeated in senatorial primaries, once loser in the gubernatorial race, would be the victor in August.

Western Kentucky, boyhood home of Mr. Brown, seems to look with little favor upon his candidacy now, for a variety of reasons. Many persons do not like to vote for a loser... and Brown has lost several State-wide races. Others are leery of Brown's CIO connections and still more have been alienated, over the years, by the bitter attacks upon individuals Brown has made in his losing campaigns.

The fact remains however, at this stage, that Brown is well out in front for the Democratic nomination for the high office he seeks and, unless Helm, who apparently suits most conservative Democrats better than any of the others, can engender a great wave of enthusiasm in the First and Second congressional districts, where Democrats live in preponderant majority, Brown is the most probable winner of the party's nomination.

How he would fare against the personable Judge Cooper, GOP favorite, is what's worrying those who are good and loyal Democrats, in season and out.

The case against Claude Bailey, charged with murder of his wife, who died at Princeton Hospital, February 26, from burns, was postponed until the October term of court, on account of the absence of a witness, Mrs. I. B. Tanner, now residing in California, former hospital superintendent here. Bailey was released from the county jail here last month, on bond.

Kentucky Streams Will Be Stocked With Trout Soon

State To Experiment With New Species Of Game Fish, Sportsmen Advised

Frankfort, June 4—Something new is in store for Kentucky fishermen—trout fishing. The Division of Game and Fish has obtained approximately 100 adult brook trout for release in suitable waters of the state, and as soon as they are properly planted, an open season will be declared on this game fish. The Fisheries Department of the Division of Game and Fish is conducting this program primarily for experimental purposes, to determine whether there is sufficient interest in trout fishing to warrant further stocking and to what extent this fish is adaptable to Kentucky streams.

The trout, obtained from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service through its station at Smoke Mountain, N. C., will be placed in streams of Eastern Kentucky during the early part of June. The season on this species is contingent on transportation of the fish, which is planned by the Division of Game and Fish.

The stocking will be conducted in Eastern Kentucky since streams in that section are considered best for this game species which requires cool, swift water, preferably in shaded areas.

Fishing for trout will be open to anyone having a fishing license, with no special permits required. Kentucky's Game and Fish Laws do not include the brook trout, since he is not native to our waters, but a bag limit of eight is announced by Director Earl Wallace through the emergency powers of the Commission of Game and Fish. There will be no size limit and possession will be double the bag limit.

Since stocking will be mostly for experimental purposes, it will be necessary for all fishermen to report their catches at checking stations located at strategic points along streams that were stocked. If from information gathered at the checking stations it is found that the experiment was successful, then the division may expand such a program in order to stock more trout in future years.

16,000 Rotarians Attending 37th Annual Convention

Keynote Is Advancement Of International Understanding, Good Will And Peace

Atlantic City, N. J., June 4—With an attendance of 16,000 Rotarians and members of their families from 50 different countries, the 37th annual convention of Rotary International convened here Sunday night. Opening the convention program, Dr. Walter H. Judd, member of Congress from Minnesota and former missionary in China, declared that if an enduring world peace is to be achieved, ethical and moral progress must keep pace with economic and scientific development.

Highlight of the convention entertainment program the first night was a performance by the Phil Spitalny All-Girl Orchestra and Choir, which broadcast its regular Sunday night NBC "Hour of Charm" program from the convention stage.

Keynote of this 5-day gathering of business and professional executives, representing 5,800 Rotary Clubs in 72 countries, will be the internationalization of the Rotary organization. Emphasis will be given throughout the convention to opportunities Rotarians have in all parts of the world to assist in achievement of the goals of the United Nations, which are strikingly similar to one of the principal objectives of Rotary International—advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace.

Presiding over the convention is the President of Rotary International, T. A. Warren, noted educator of Wolverhampton, England.

Among outstanding speakers scheduled during the week are Clinton P. Anderson, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture; C. T. Wang of Chungking, former Chinese Ambassador to the United States; Almon E. Roth, President of the National Federation of American Shipping; Captain Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota; H. Raymond King, noted educator of London, England; I. B. Dade Park Will Have 26-Day Meet

Racing To Begin Aug. 3, End Sept. 2 At West Ky. Track

Owensboro, June 4—The Dade Park Jockey Club, operator of the Western Kentucky racing establishment located near the bridge over the Ohio River about midway between Evansville, Ind., and Henderson, has announced dates for its 23rd meeting. The summer racing session is scheduled to get under way Saturday, Aug. 3, for a 26-day run, closing with the Labor Day program, Monday, Sept. 2. Racing will be offered every day between these dates except Sundays.

James C. Ellis, president and general manager of the Dade Park Jockey Club, has received favorable response from horsemen of the American tracks this year regarding stable accommodations and it is expected in addition to stables that have campaigned at Dade in recent years a large number of new ones will be on hand for the inaugural program.

Judge T. C. Bradley, who has served as presiding steward a number of years, has been promoted to director of racing. John T. Morrissey will succeed Judge Bradley as steward and will serve in this capacity with J. J. Graddy, another familiar figure at Dade Park. Jack S. Young will be the third steward and will represent the Kentucky Racing Commission.

Young Spectators Are Trial To Court

Denver—(AP)—A social science teacher assigned six junior high school boys to attend the trial of Manuel (Peanuts) Mondragon, accused of killing a policeman, but they had no more than reached their seats when the court officer hustled them back to school.

Court attendants had arranged to have the officer there because the day before another group of teen-age boys had done the trail decorum no good by calling out, "Attaboy, Peanuts!" while the accused youth was testifying.

Sell Cull Hens, Graham Advises

Young Stock Should Be Fed Well, Despite Cost, Agent Says

Poultry raisers should observe their laying flocks very carefully during the next few months and cull closely, County Agent J. F. Graham advises. Scarcity and high cost of feed requires that close culling be observed, and a high level of production be obtained, or financial losses will occur, he said.

Mr. Graham said young stock for flock replacement should be fed well, even though feed is high, as it is very necessary that pullets be developed early and in good production during October, November and December, if highest profits are realized.

Roosters, cull hens, and marketable cockers should be put on the market at the earliest possible date, so available feed may go to growing replacement stock and to hens in good production, he said.

Baptists Prepare To Help Schools

2130 Churches Will Make Special Offering For Six Colleges

Louisville, June 4—Kentucky Baptists are making a special study of their six schools during the month of June, to be climaxed by a special offering June 30, by the 2130 churches for their schools.

Georgetown College, organized in 1829, the only 4-year college of Baptists in Kentucky, has enrolled more than 500 students this year. Dr. Samuel S. Hill is president.

Cumberland College, located at Williamsburg, James Boswell acting president, is a junior educational college. It was organized in 1889, and has served a large number of students from eastern Kentucky. Cumberland has an enrollment of 151 this year.

Bethel Woman's College, in Hopkinsville, Powhatan James, president, is a junior college with an enrollment of 100 girls.

Campbellsville College, W. M. Caudill president, is a junior educational school with 200 enrolled the last school year.

Oneida Baptist Institute, located in Clay county, and Magoffin Institute, at Sky, in Breathitt county, have academies and have offered grade and high school work to a large number of Mountain boys and girls.

Guard Against Waste Of Food, Americans Urged

25 Percent Of Nation's Supply Lost Right At Home While World Hungers, Claim

Washington, (AP) — While the rest of the world hungers, Americans waste 125,000,000 pounds of food every day.

This adds up to about 25 percent of the nation's total food supply every year. Of this, 100 pounds of edible food per person is wasted right in the home. The rest is lost between the farm and the home.

The Department of Agriculture estimates that by watchfulness in the home we can save up to one-fourth to one-third of the food we daily waste. This is even making allowance for unavoidable waste.

Figures of the Stanford University Food Research Institute indicate Americans waste enough food to add 300 calories a day to the diet of each of the earth's 500,000,000 starving persons.

Chester C. Davis, chairman of the famine emergency committee urges: "Beginning now, let's starve our garbage can."

While food is wasted by each of us each day in the home, it is also wasted on the farm, in transit, in storage, in the processing plant, at wholesale markets and establishments, in retail stores and in public eating places.

The Department of Agriculture estimates an over-all loss (including both avoidable and unavoidable waste) between the point of harvest and the point of retail sale, of as much as 30 percent for tomatoes, lettuce, cauliflower; 25 percent for cabbage, spinach, celery; 20 percent for fruits such as apples, pears, peaches; 13 percent for oranges and grapefruit.

For less perishable commodities such as potatoes, peas and beans, the estimated over-all loss is from 5 to 10 percent.

These estimates relate to average conditions and actual losses. They vary from year to year, and from area to area.

Waste on the farm includes damage done by insects and rodents. Rats alone destroy each year as much food as 240,000 farmers can produce.

Waste occurs, from breakage and spoilage in transit, from improper packing, loading, handling and ventilating—especially in the shipment of perishables.

Some 25,000,000 pounds of meat is lost annually through rough handling in transportation.

There is additional loss in retail handling. Reports of some of the most carefully managed stores, the department of agriculture says, have shown spoilage losses of 3 to 10 percent on fresh fruit and of 3 to 15 percent on fresh vegetables. Limited studies made in 1942 suggest that such waste alone totaled about $450,000,000 that year.

Other studies disclose that waste in restaurants and cafeterias has averaged about 9 to 14 percent of the total wastage (Please turn to page two)

Kentuckian Is Member Of New World Cabinet

AP Newsfeatures)
New York—Eight men drawn from eight different nations but owing allegiance to the 51 United Nations make up a kind of world cabinet under Secretary General Trygve Lie, Norwegian, in the U. N. secretariat.
These eight assistant secretaries general, experts in their fields, hold daily morning meetings to talk over one another's problems.
Their jobs are full time and they draw tax-free salaries of $13,500 yearly, plus $7,000 to $11,000 in allowances.
Lie gets a $20,000 salary and $20,000 in allowances.
Assistant secretaries general with purely administrative duties—conferences, administrative and financial affairs, information and legal affairs—report to Secretary General Lie.
Others report to U. N. groups—the economic affairs and social affairs assistants to the Economic and Social Council, the trusteeship assistants to the Trusteeship Council and the Security Council assistant to that council—as well as to Lie.
These men, designated "assistant secretaries general in charge of" their respective fields, are:

He went to India in 1942 as personal adviser to Sir Stafford Cripps, secretary of state for India, was in the British Foreign Office Reconstruction Department from 1943 to 1945, and attended the San Francisco U. N. conference.
He favors "a maximum flow of trade between nations which would reconcile the different economic structures of the world."
Henri Laugier, French, Department of Social Affairs, is a chain smoker, wit and bon vivant, still a bachelor at 57. He was born in southeastern France, took doctors' degrees in medicine and science and the highest French diploma, "aggregation of science," at French universities and has taught in France (at Sorbonne), Brazil, Peru and Mexico and held posts in the French education and cultural affairs ministries.
He seeks to create "international loyalty" through international co-operation on economic and social questions.
John B. Hutson, American, administrative and financial services, 55, a Murray, Ky., Corp. during the war and served as deputy director of war mobilization.
Benjamin Cohen, Chilean, in charge of information, is of Russian extraction and speaks Spanish, French, English, Italian, Portuguese, German and Russian. Now 50, he was a newspaperman before beginning a diplomatic career which led to his becoming Chile's ambassador to Bolivia and later to Venezuela.
He likes Scotch and wine, smokes 80 cigarettes a day and can cook. He professes to believe the world is getting better.
Dr. Ivan Kerno, Czechoslovakian, Department of Legal Affairs, is a Budapest and Paris-trained jurist in his fifties who was a 27-year-old diplomat of newly created Czechoslovakia in 1918. He served at the World War I peace conference in Paris and at the Hague world court, once was Czechoslovak minister to the Netherlands and from 1928 to 1934 was in the League of Nations secretary general's cabinet.
In World War II, he fled Czechoslovakia and worked in the French resistance movement. His department interprets international law.
Adrian Pelt, Dutch, conference arrangements and general services, went from a Netherlands newspaper editorship to the League Information Section and served there 14 years, becoming section head in 1934.

Waste Of Food

of the nation. Three to 8 percent of this was attributed to management, about 6 percent to food left on plates by patrons.
The President's Famine Emergency Committee (FEC) says the world food supply is not adequate. Anything we draw from the stockpile more than we need is taking just that much away from the inadequate heap.
"That extra unneeded amount" says FEC "if left in the pile, can be drawn upon by people to whom the meager ration means the difference between death and life."
In the War Department's Pentagon building, where workers eat a total of 50,000 meals a day, curtailment in flour has resulted in the saving of 4,300 pounds of bread each week; 1,345 pounds of flour which have gone into the tops of pies; 60 pounds of hot and 30 pounds of dry cereal a week.
This, the FEC says, gives a rough idea of what would be accomplished if similar savings were made over the 600,000,000 meals served daily in American homes.
Also, if every man, woman and school child in the United States saved a teaspoon of fat a day it would mean a total of at least 50,000 tons of fat for those starving for it. This would be a big aid in helping us meet our pledge to send 350,000 tons of fats and oils abroad in the first half of 1946.
The department of agriculture stresses the fact that the home-maker can do more than any other individual toward conserving our food supply. Here are some specific actions she can take:

Save left-overs—make them appetizing.
Buy perishables according to your needs.
Plan meals by the week.
Buy seasonal and plentiful foods.
Store perishables with care.
Prepare food without unnecessary waste.
Encourage family members to "clean the plate."
Share or preserve victory garden surplus.
Use all portions of foods. Peeling potatoes results in discard of some of the most nutritious part. Beet tops are more nutritious than the roots, yet are seldom used. The best leaves of cabbage and lettuce are the outer leaves, seldom used.

Ford To Build $50,000,000 Research Center

Dearborn, Mich., June 4—The following statement by Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Company, was released at Dearborn today:

We propose to start construction as soon as regulations permit, on a new Research and Engineering Center here in Dearborn which, to the best of our knowledge, will be one of the largest developments of its kind in industry.

The project will take 8 years to complete. We estimate a total cost in construction and equipment of $50,000,000. It will be located on a 500-acre tract west of Dearborn Inn. It will comprise a primary group of eight buildings and will bring into close geographical relationship all research, development and engineering activities for the company's Ford, Mercury and Lincoln divisions. These eight buildings will be grouped around an artificial lake 800 feet long and 350 feet wide. The buildings will be of modern design featuring steel and concrete construction and limestone facings throughout.

The center will be dedicated to my grandfather, Henry Ford, who 50 years ago today drove the first Ford car through downtown Detroit, and to the memory of my father, Edsel B. Ford.

Insurance Agency

Established 1907

"Not For A Day, But For All Time."

We Stay and Pay

"When you buy insurance from this Agency, you are bringing security home."

This is a view of some of the major buildings of the proposed Ford Research and Engineering Center at Dearborn, Michigan.

Behind this large expenditure is our determination to use every aid which science and research can give us in our job. That job, as we see it, is to make more and better motor cars at prices that more and more people can afford.

We already have gone far in this direction—through the excellent work of the research and engineering staffs in many company departments. But we propose greatly to expand past efforts and to coordinate them more effectively.

Research and engineering work on the mechanical problems of the automobile business will absorb the largest portions of space and budget in the new Center. But there are many other areas upon which the spotlight of scientific research must be turned in the constant attempt to increase the efficiency of mass production and mass distribution. In commenting on one of the most important of those areas at the annual meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers early this year, I said: "The mechanics of mass production can still be greatly improved, and they can be more widely adapted."

"But there is a whole vast area in which we are only beginning to make significant progress—what we might call the field of human engineering. Machines alone do not give us mass production. Mass production is achieved by both machines and men. And while we have gone a very long way toward perfecting our mechanical operations we have not successfully written into our equations whatever complex factor represents man, the human element.

"I am suggesting, therefore, that we try to re-write the equations to take into account the human factor. If we can solve the problem of human relations in industrial production, I believe we can make as much progress toward lower costs during the next 10 years as we made during the past quarter century through the development of the machinery of mass production."

This is one of the many important problems we hope to tackle at our new Research Center. It is a problem for research. We need to know more about the "human equation" in making things as well as the "human equation" in buying things.

I hope that this action by the Ford Motor Company at this time will attest our own unlimited faith in the future of a free America and our belief that there are no problems ahead which cannot be solved by the hard work of a free people.

AMG Promises Discretion In Destroying Nazi Books

AP Newsfeatures

Berlin — American Military Government officials predict there will be "no book bonfires and no witch hunts" in the American execution of the four-power Allied order to destroy German literature of a Fascist, militarist and anti-Democratic nature.

The same discretionary policy, they said, would be followed in execution of a companion directive handed down by the Allied Control Authority's coordinating committee to destroy Nazi memorials and German military monuments commemorating World Wars I and II.

Maj. Gen. C. I. Adcock, deputy to Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, deputy military governor, as well as other officials pointed out that the orders left much to discretion of the zone military commanders.

"And you can count on it," said one official, "that Gen. (Joseph) McNarney isn't going to persecute a German for owning and failing to surrender a history of World War I."

The Americans said that, at their own and British insistence, private libraries were exempted from the search for banned books. In the matter of monuments they pointed to a clause which states that "removal of objectionable parts will constitute effective eradication." This measure is expected to be substituted for total destruction in many cases.

"What's all this talk about book bonfires?" said one high official. "We expect a lot of copies of 'Mein Kampf' and other objectionable volumes to be surrendered. What's wrong with tossing them into the chemical vat and converting them into good clean paper to help cure the present shortage?"

Silesia Asks UNRRA Aid

Stop That Leak . . .

With the heavy rainfall last month you've found the weak spots in your roofs. Every day that you let your roof remain in this condition cuts several days off the serviceable life of your building. Be wise and make whatever degree of repair that roof requires. Don't delay this, however, because roofing products are becoming as scarce as many of the other "hard to find" building materials. We now have the following roofing items:

For your home we suggest either the 167-lb. green 3-tab hexagon asphalt shingle or the 210-lb. blue 3-tab thick butt asphalt shingle. Price $5.50 and $6.50 per square respectively.

For outbuildings or any place where an economical but serviceable roof is needed we recommend either the 55-lb. or 65-lb. mica surfaced asphalt roll roofing or the 90-lb. green slate surfaced roof. Prices $2.35, $2.50 and $3.25 respectively.

Perhaps your roof leaks a little but not enough to justify a new roof. In this case, if it is an asphalt roof we recommend Warren's Root-Tex, an asphalt fiber roof coating. If it is a metal roof we suggest either Warren's Metal Coat Aluminum Paint. A gallon covers 6-8 squares, or Warren's Barn and Roof Paint in either red or green. For patching holes in roof or stopping leaks around lashings or gutters we recommend roof cement.

Warren's Root Tex (5 gal.)	$ 75 Gal.
Warren's Aluminum Paint	$4.50 Gal.
Warren's Barn and Roof Paint	$2.50 Gal.
Dixie Barn and Roof Paint	$1.50 Gal.

The eight-page newspaper in its 76th issue recently marked attainment of a 285,000 circulation by launching a 16-page Sunday edition. Preparations were made for a circulation of 400,000 within a few weeks although distribution still was hampered by limited trucks and gasoline.

Virtually all of the personnel is Austrian under an American managing editor, H. J. Burns, former Portland, Me., newspaperman.

Cows Produce Well

The herd of P. M. Weideman and Son in Simpson county produced in one month an average of more than 50 pounds of butterfat and 989 pounds of milk per cow. A registered Jersey in the herd produced more than 73 pounds of butterfat, Farm Agent Woodrow Coats reported.

Small Flock Pays

That it pays to keep a small family-size flock of chickens is seen in the monthly record of S. W. Quillen of Lee county. He told Farm Agent T. H. Jones that with a flock of 22 hens, eggs totaled 620. The receipts were $12.75 and the expenses, $8.75.

Mrs. Poole Felt So Run-down She Would Have To Stay In Bed For Days. Retonga Taps The List Of Medicines With Her, She Says "I lost fifteen pounds in three months and felt so weakened that sometimes I would have to go to bed for days, but thanks to Retonga I have regained fourteen pounds and I feel better than in years," happily declares Mrs. Sam Poole, well-known resident of 173 Liberty Parkway, Clarksville, Tenn. Discussing her case Mrs. Poole gratefully continued:

MRS. SAM POOLE

"I suffered terribly from sour indigestion and frequently would lose my food within thirty minutes after eating. I had no appetite and often would not even go to the table at mealtime. Nothing seemed to digest properly, I lost weight rapidly and elimination was so sluggish I became almost a slave to laxatives.

"Thanks to the grand relief Retonga brought me I have regained fourteen pounds and now feel fine. I rest so well that mornings I feel refreshed, eat heartily, and am ready for my household duties. Those harsh laxatives are not needed now. It would be impossible for me to give Retonga the praise it justly deserves. It heads the list of medicines with me."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Dawson's Drug Store.

Prices And Your Purse: Call Issued In Crop Drive

The call has gone forth to the men, women, and youth of the nation to help process this year's fruit and vegetable crop. With approximately 500,000 full and parttime workers urgently needed this summer, local United States Employment Services offices are already beginning recruitment drives.

"Failure to pack every available case of canned food this year would be disastrous," the Department of Labor warns, and encourages housewives and business men and women to work Saturdays and evenings to prevent waste or loss of food.

An estimated 35,000 prisoners of war and foreign workers used in processing last year's crop are no longer available, and the industry is looking to local communities as well as migratory workers to meet its manpower needs.

Bathing Caps

Here is welcome news for the warm weather days ahead. Rubber bathing caps will be back on the market this season, according to predictions of the Civilian Production Administration. They will be in short supply, however, so it will be first come, first served. Manufacturers are allowed to use up to 60 percent rubber content in the caps, the remaining percentage to be made up of synthetic substitutes.

Shoe Profits

Shoe production is expected to rocket to record levels this year, yet many retail stores today are selling only one pair to a customer. The "black market" is cited as one reason for the retail shortage and some manufacturers, retailers say, are holding back delivery, hopeful of getting higher prices, and some shoes are being exported to Cuba, where they are sold at large profits.

Silk Hose Again

If some of you haven't a pair of nylons yet, the next best thing is right around the corner. Raw silk from Japan has arrived and the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers says silk hose will be on the market this week. Rue you'll have to pay up. They'll be $2.50 or more a pair.

The Civilian Production Administration considers the present production rate of stockings high. Fifty-four million pairs are nylons. But CPA cautions women not to hoard. If you buy only what you actually need for the present, there will be more even distribution and you won't be caught with a supply of old stockings when the new, improved products reach the stores.

'Skeeter' Cost

It's going to cost you more money this summer to keep the "skeeters" out. The OPA increased the ceiling prices on door and window screens so the next screen product you buy will cost 14 1/2 percent more. This is the first price increase since March, 1942, though, and it was authorized so that needed production for the veterans housing program would not be delayed because of pricing problems.

Planes as Memorials

America's famous fighting planes will soon be dotting the country as war memorials. "Cow Town Kathy," "Dog Patch Clipper" and Frisco-Trudy" will be sitting alongside the quaint cannons and antiquated tanks of former wars that adorn the public parks. The War Assets Administration has already delivered 150 planes for this purpose.

Food Prices Climb

Food prices are still increasing moderately. Since February sugar has increased 5 percent. Fresh fruit and vegetables, including cabbage, lettuce, and onions, are up 1.7 percent. However, the chief staple of Popeye's diet—spinach—has taken a seasonal drop of 14 percent. Peanut butter and cheese, those Sunday evening supper favorites, have inched up from 1 to 2 percent. Clothing costs increased 1.7 percent between February and March and are now (and this figure really hurts) 52.6 percent higher today than in August, 1939. Percentages vary with different sections of the country, of course.

Fruit Makes Money For Johnson Farmer

How an orchard can add to farm income was seen by persons who attended a program at Trimble Harris' farm in Johnson county. A good apple orchard is in full production, with a large number of young apple trees coming on. Harris also has a young peach orchard and an acre of strawberries.

County Agent Carl H. Lay said Rome Beauty is the most popular apple in eastern Kentucky, followed closely by the Yellow Delicious. Keifer is the best pear for that region, Clay thought, while Elberta, Carman, Golden Jubilee, Halehaven and Belle of Georgia peaches all do well.

Time Enough Left For Good Gardens

There is still time to have good late gardens, according to the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Persons who failed to get an early start at gardening should not be discouraged, it is pointed out. There is still time to start vegetables for canning and storing.

Vegetables that can be planted yet include tomatoes, cabbage, potatoes, beets, carrots, sweet corn, squash, Chinese cabbage, turnips, soybeans for food, and most kinds of beans.

Tomatoes for canning are usually set in June and may be started until July 1. Tomatoes are easy to grow and yield well, and should be grown in abundance for canning, says the college.

4-H Conservation Camp For Negroes

One hundred and fifty Negro 4-H Club delegates from all parts of Kentucky will attend a conservation camp at Fee Memorial Institute, Nicholasville, July 1-5. The program will include talks and demonstrations on the conservation of the soil, forests and wild life, as well as recreational, educational and inspirational features. Nine Negro extension workers, specialists from the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics and local ministers and educators will assist in the program.

Boone Farmers Plan Dairy Improvement

The Boone County Dairy Artificial Breeding Association is planning an educational program for July calling for the signing up of 1,000 to 1,500 cows. The association will begin operation Oct. 1.

Artificial breeding will be of special value to owners of small herds, County Agent H. R. Forkner said in announcing the July campaign. In New York State he said artificial breeding increased butterfat production as much as 40 pounds per cow per year.

May's Rainfall Is Double Average

Weather observers, wet from May's 18 days of rain, wondered if June will prove, as did the previous month, the truth of the adage that rain the first day of the month means a repeat performance for at least half the entire month.

Counting two light traces, rain fell on 18 separate days during May, including both the first and last days of the month. And the quantity was as great as the frequency, reaching more than twice the average amount for the month.

May's total rainfall reached 8.23 inches, 4.52 inches above the monthly average of 3.71. The monthly average was surpassed in one 24-hour period on May 24 and 25 during which 3.78 inches fell.

As a result of May's heavy rainfall, total for the first five months of the year soared above the average for that period. Twenty-four inches were recorded up until June 1, an excess of 5.92 over the average for those months, which is 18.08.
